Payentry to Provide Employment Verification Through The Work Number® from Equifax

Delivering Success Together

Peachtree Corners, Georgia, September 18, 2025 – Payentry, a leading provider of payroll and human capital management solutions, today announced it is enabling clients to leverage The Work Number® from Equifax, the industry-leading commercial source of consolidated employment verification. This collaboration gives employees and employers a faster, more secure way to handle employment and income verifications in support of important life events such as applying for a mortgage, an auto loan or government benefits.

Through this arrangement, the employees of Payentry clients can authorize Equifax to provide credentialed verifiers, such as lenders and government agencies, access to critical employment and income data more quickly and reliably, typically without the need for manual HR involvement.

In addition to serving direct clients, Payentry's Software as a Service (SaaS) licensees, who are independent payroll providers that utilize the Payentry platform, can also implement access to The Work Number for their employer clients. By extending this service, payroll providers can offer a higher level of value to the businesses they support, helping their clients reduce HR workload while giving employees faster, more secure employment and income verification. This not only strengthens the payroll company's service offerings but also enhances client satisfaction and trust.

"Our clients trust us to simplify complex payroll and HR processes," stated Geoffrey R. Duke, Chief Executive Officer of Payentry. "By integrating with The Work Number, we're helping employers reduce administrative burden while ensuring employees benefit from a quicker, more secure verification process. This partnership also reflects our continual pursuit of strategic collaborations that allow us to better serve our direct clients, licensees, and the employees who rely on them."

The Work Number from Equifax is an industry standard solution used by millions of employers nationwide. By offering this service through Payentry, employers can improve efficiency, better support their compliance, and provide their employees with greater control and convenience.

"We are proud to collaborate with Payentry to bring the benefits of The Work Number to the employers they serve," said Jeff Wagner, VP of Business Development, Equifax Workforce Solutions. "Our automated digital verifications of employment and income help employers and employees save time and paperwork, to help keep life moving forward often at times when it matters most."
